Comment Submitted:

The preliminary corridor map on the EIS web site is almost completely useless due to it's large scale. The map covers the western half of the USA without any useful references to location of the proposed corridors. It is impossible to locate land features, federal land boundaries, historic sites, or my own county in relation to the corridors!

Is a map of western montana available for review? I could not find it on the EIS web site.

Steve King, Missoula, Montana
